

This is one of a set of three maps, devised in collaboration with community groups in Paisley. They all explore the city from new and unusual perspectives, and leave space for the viewer's own interpretations or additions. Pick up all three in the set, and find out more at mappingpaisley.org

This map was created by the STAR project group, from their knowledge of and interest in the town and its history.

By navigating distinctive features of the town the group started to add information to their map. This included architectural highlights, an interest in public statues and more subjective information such as 'the best chippy'.

From here the group created a walking tour of Paisley which they led the following week. The tour lasted around 1 hour and was a fascinating way to learn about the town with each member of the group taking turns to present.

The final map presented here has two sides. One allowing you to follow the tour devised by the STAR project, highlighting their sites of interest, and one completely blank - can you create your own map of Paisley with illustrations, text and markers? What would you want to show visitors to the town?
